

Lexington Park Equity Accelerator

Information for Community Coalition Partners

The Lexington Park Equity Accelerator has reached out to 14 community organizations across Lexington that have an interest or history engaging in issues related to social/racial equity or greenspace and public space policy. Those organizations are listed below.

Organizations that choose to be part of the coalition will be expected to attend regular planning meetings throughout the program period, and participate in the Focus Group process for Phase I and the Educational Workshops for Phase II.

Some community organizations will be compensated for their participation and some will not. Our Accelerator team made this decision in order to prioritize the involvement of community organizations that work extensively with marginalized communities. We selected the organizations for compensation based on our understanding of how much large-scale funding or institutional support each organization has.
